AutoCAD 2018 R19 for Windows is the latest version of the computer-aided design (CAD) software for Windows. The software, originally developed by Autodesk and launched in 2012, lets you create and edit technical drawings, architectural designs, and city models. AutoCAD supports vector, raster, and BIM data formats, and also includes features such as dynamic viewports, and a dynamic tiered viewer and monitor. It includes layer-based and object-based 3D drawing capabilities. Other features include linking, aligning, dimensioning, and text/measurement tools. In addition to the base product, you can get AutoCAD 2017, 2019, or Revit for Windows. You can also get AutoCAD LT for Windows. It includes 2D and 3D drawing capabilities and lets you create paper layouts, technical drawings, and technical drawings in a vector format. AutoCAD is designed for the manufacturing industry, the construction industry, and the energy industry. The full version of the software costs $1,999, but you can try out the free trial version to see if the software is right for your industry. How to get the best price on AutoCAD 1. Buying AutoCAD without a perpetual license You can buy a perpetual license for AutoCAD that's valid for a fixed period of time. For example, you can buy a license for AutoCAD for a period of 24 months and have the right to use the license for as long as the original version of AutoCAD is supported. If you purchase a perpetual license, you have the option to buy an AutoCAD subscription. With an AutoCAD subscription, you have the right to install AutoCAD on as many computers as you want. For example, if you purchase a subscription for AutoCAD, you can install AutoCAD on 10 computers and it will not count against your monthly subscription. When you buy a perpetual license for AutoCAD, you're not given the right to install AutoCAD on as many computers as you want. You can buy AutoCAD for a set period of time and have the right to use the license for that period of time. If you're purchasing a perpetual license for AutoCAD, you don't need a subscription. If you're purchasing a subscription, you need a valid perpetual license. You can use the AutoCAD Forever subscription option and buy

MEXICO CITY (Reuters) - Mexican President Enrique Pena Nieto will meet the foreign secretary of neighboring Guatemala, according to a draft of the agenda for the Monday meeting posted on the website of Pena Nieto's office on Friday. Mexico's President Enrique Pena Nieto delivers a speech at the site of the Bracero Cultural Center, a migration camp for Mexican agricultural workers, in Tapachula, Chiapas state, Mexico, August 10, 2015. REUTERS/Carlos Jasso The agenda published on Friday does not specify the subject of the meeting but the Mexican president's office said it will deal with a regional security pact and international cooperation in the fight against organized crime. Guatemala's foreign ministry did not immediately reply to a request for comment. According to the draft agenda, Mexican and Guatemalan officials will also discuss humanitarian issues in their countries, the development of mutual economic cooperation, and "the reopening of the international border with Ecuador." Guatemala is already home to about 300,000 migrants from neighboring countries fleeing poverty, violence and repression. In March, an unarmed anti-crime unit set out to look for a migrant gang that had kidnapped and killed a woman in Guatemala City. An armored vehicle traveling with the unit was attacked with a rocket-propelled grenade, but the vehicle was not damaged. Mexico's Pena Nieto, a former governor of the central state of Mexico, has been criticized in recent months for a security crackdown that has cost the lives of more than 2,000 people and left many innocent people dead and unarmed. The surge in violence
